SafeLives - Your Best Friend:

Your Best Friend is a project to improve confidence of young people to help themselves and their friends in abusive relationships. We have just launched the #friendscantell campaign which you can see on our website www.yourbestfriend.org.uk and where you can download campaign packs, access the resources as they are released, see the research from the project and download the Your Best Friend discovery report.

For young people with SEND and low levels of literacy. Some of the Instagram posts which be downloaded from the website & seen at the #FriendsCanTell Instagram account will contain a lot of simple images and image descriptions that can be used for young people with low literacy. SafeLives will also be sharing videos co-created by young people which convey the message of spotting unhealthy signs and how to step in and help friends. These resources will be in BSL. There will also be a series of podcasts of young people talking to each other about the issues

Draw the Line:

Visit - Draw The Line For an online practical tool to use in the classroom with YP helping them to draw the line between healthy/unhealthy/toxic behaviours.

RSE Curriculum:

SafeLives is running an exciting 12-month research project to explore secondary schools' experiences delivering the new Relationships and Sex Education (RSE) curriculum.

This is the first update to the curriculum in twenty years, and for the first time, delivery of relationships education is a statutory requirement in primary and secondary schools.

We are running surveys, interviews and focus groups across England, in order to find out:

- How teachers are finding the delivery of the new curriculum
- What kinds of support and training they need
- How young people have experienced RSE
- And how effective the curriculum is in enhancing young people's understanding of healthy relationships

Please share our survey with young people in England aged 11-18 years.

If you're a teacher please take our survey & share with your networks.

The Learning to Respect Programme | The Learning to Respect Programme | London Borough of Hounslow: is a training programme for professionals. It aims to raise awareness regarding the nature and effects of domestic violence. As a prevention programme it seeks to reduce the incidence of domestic abuse/violence, by supporting professionals embed Healthy Relationship education with children and young people.
