"The survey was impressive. Useful information, quick results, easy to understand graphs, the breakdown of information was presented well. It's very rare to be able to compare data with that of other schools. There are clear benchmarks we can compare our kids to. It was very, very useful. The school used the data and took a number of actions to address it, including peer mentoring, Extended Schools, running an anti-bullying group, and work around developing aspirations, role-models and self-esteem. It also confirmed positive aims of the school, e.g. that pupils feel bullying is taken seriously and is acted upon." Deputy Head Secondary School
